Nine Local Stores Over Top in Fifth War Loan Drive

Twenty of the Ocean Beach stores, with a quota of $34,000 had reported total sales of $49,425 in war bonds in the Fifth War Loan drive, Chairman Burritt S. Mills announced Thursday. Not all of them had reported to him up to that date, so the total should be somewhat greater. The figures mean that these stores are considerably over the top on their quota, when added together, though some of the reporting stores had not yet met their quota when last they reported to the local chairman.

Likely other stores than the 20 named have sold bonds and have not as yet reported to the chairman. They are urged by him to do so at once in order that a compilation can be made soon as possible of the total retail store effort in Ocean Beach in this war bond drive. The 12 stores in the lead, according to their last report made to Chairman Mills had sold the following totals:

Store	Quota	Sales
Market Basket	$3200	$12,700
Lownes' Variety	4000	5,000
Pacific Shores Cafe	2000	5,000
Lownes' Dept.	4000	3,350
Fried's Store	800	3,100
Veda Moss	800	2,900
Kraft Drug	3600	2,825
Blue Chip Store	800	2,550
Tony's Place	2400	7,175
J. E. Loftus	800	1,000
Arizona Bar	1600	1,000
Newport Liquor	800	1,000

The Fifth War Loan drive is scheduled to close Saturday night this week, so only two days remain for the Ocean Beach bond salesmen and women to complete their work.

The foregoing figures are only those for the retail stores and do not include the bonds sold at the local bank and post office, which had not reported their totals at the time of going to press.

San Diego Will Celebrate 175th Birthday July 16

On July 16, 1769, were recorded the beginnings of civilization in California and the start of christianization of the far West Indians in San Diego.

On the site of the old presidio (in Presidio park) where these events occurred a celebration will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, July 16, observing San Diego's 175th birthday.

Exercises will be conducted under auspices of the San Diego Historical society and a citizens' committee, after which a reception will be held at Junipero Serra museum, one of the world's outstanding monuments to this pioneer priest, founder of the chain of 21 Franciscan missions.

San Diego's claim to distinction in human history includes the fact that here white men discovered what is now the Pacific coast of the United States.

Here Europeans first settled. Here was the first military fortification, the first irrigation ditch, the first cultivated field.

In 1769, Spain being at last ready to colonize this coast, King Carlos III issued a royal order for the occupation of San Diego and Monterey. In January and February of that year the San Carlos and San Antonio sailed north from Mexican ports; and some weeks later two overland expeditions got under way — the second being headed by Gov. Gaspar de Portola and Fr. Junipero Serra, president of the missions.

July 1 survivors of these four expeditions met about where the Serra palm now stands.

The governor and all able to travel left San Diego July 14 in search of Monterey. Two days later Fr. Serra dedicated a mission site within the presidial enclosure. The cross was planted, the Spanish flag raised, bells were rung, cannons fired. On that day San Diego was born.

For 60 years the Presidio was held by Spanish leather jacket soldiers and artillery reinforcements and was manned by Mexican militiamen.

Mrs. Anna Ingoldsbey and her daughter, Mrs. Dale Sexton, and 1846 officers and men of the United States army and navy were in control.

Mrs. Sophie Smiljanich, 4651 Santa Cruz ave., has as her houseguests, her sister and niece, Mrs. Agnes Cikity and Miss Olga Cikity of Farrell, Penn.

Lynn Price, Local Cafe Owner, Dies In Hospital July 6

Ocean Beach was called on to mourn the death of one of its prominent business men, J. Lynn Price, who passed away at Mercy hospital at 4 a.m. Thursday morning, following a serious 10-day illness with bladder trouble. He was operated on June 27 and later given a blood transfusion in the hope of prolonging his life.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Bonham Brothers chapel, with Rev. Phil Harris officiating.

Lynn Price was born in Henrietta, Tex. Dec. 21, 1899 and was married May 30, 1937 at Corpus Christi. Maiden name of the bride was Mabel Walker.

Mr. Price moved to Ocean Beach in 1936 and had been in the cafe business since 1939. Up to Dec. 18, last, when they opened the Mabel & Lynn cafe in the Kraft building, they had conducted a cafe at 2183 Bacon st. He was a member of the Masonic lodge of Ocean Beach and of the San Diego Elks lodge.

Besides the widow, he is survived by his daughter, Paula; his mother, Mrs. Kate Webber, and his sister, Mrs. Mildred Strickler, both of San Diego. The Price home is at 4445 Niagara ave.

Official Returns On Primary Show Kraft's Total 17068

Official figures released this week at Sacramento by Frank M. Jordan, secretary of state, show that Fred Kraft received a total of 17,068 votes in the May 16 primary. Of the total, 9,756 was on the Republican ballot and 7,312 on the Democratic. John S. Browne, his opponent on the Democratic ballot, polled 5,145 votes. These totals were the vote for assemblymen in the 78th assembly district.

Although the registration was the lowest in eight years a larger percentage of those qualified to vote cast their ballot at the May 16 consolidated primary election laws than in 20 years, reports Jordan. Of the 3,370,978 qualified to vote, 1,884,820 or 55.91 per cent, cast their ballots. The highest previous percentage for a presidential primary election was in 1924 when 56 per cent of those registered voted.

San Diego County Fourth
On a statewide basis of votes cast, Los Angeles county led the state with 782,220 of that county's voters casting ballots. San Francisco was second with 224,402. Alameda was third with 152,146, and San Diego county was fourth with a total of 84,405. The greatest total vote was cast in the race for United States senator with 931,630 Democrats and 718,010 Republicans participating.

In the vote for candidates preferring Franklin D. Roosevelt and Earl Warren for president, Democrats cast 770,222 votes and Republicans, 594,439.

In the race for United States senator, Democratic voters gave the following ballots: Bancroft, 53,094; Bonelli, 60,080; Casad, 4,106; Craemer, 23,167; Crowder, 9,292; Dockweiler, 39,364; Downey, 510,069; Houser, 132,376; Johnson, 45,325; Taheny, 13,898; Tenney, 40,859.

Candidates on the Republican ticket for United States senator received the following votes: Bancroft, 106,463; Bonelli, 54,078; Casad, 2,629; Craemer, 41,846; Downey, 119,412; Houser, 315,828; Johnson, 43,014; Riggs, 8,446; Taheny, 6,953; Tenney, 19,341.

OCEAN BEACH MASONS ENTERTAIN DEMOLAY BOYS
Ocean Beach Masons entertained about 50 boys, members of the San Diego DeMolay, Friday evening at the local lodge hall. The boys put on the first degree as a feature of the lodge session. Main speakers of the evening were Fred Weed, DeMolay master counselor, and Emil Sheltenberg, grand deacon of the California grand lodge of Masons. The local Masons served a dinner as part of the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Anna Ingoldsbey and her daughter, Mrs. Dale Sexton, and 1846 officers and men of the United States army and navy were in control.

Mrs. Sophie Smiljanich, 4651 Santa Cruz ave., has as her houseguests, her sister and niece, Mrs. Agnes Cikity and Miss Olga Cikity of Farrell, Penn.

SIX YOUNG FOLKS CUT BY BROKEN GLASS AND BY ROCKS DURING THE WEEK

During the past week an even half dozen young folks suffered cuts from sharp rocks and broken glass, serious enough to require first aid treatment at the Ocean Beach police station, Sergeant R. J. Karrow reported Wednesday. All of these injuries were at the local beach.

One 16-year-old girl had a four-inch laceration on her left foot. Another girl a half-inch gash on her left hand. A sailor of 18 suffered a half-inch cut on his left toe. A boy of nine had one-inch lacerations on his right heel and the sixth injury was a two-inch laceration on the right hand.

The police again point out the need for all folks going to the beach to watch out for broken glass and sharp rocks. They also warn from breaking glass there.

Improvements on Davis Building To be Discussed

Contemplated improvements on the Davis building, which is now being used for a recreation center for the youth of the community during the summer months, will be suggested and discussed at the regular meeting of the Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce to be held Monday evening. A report will be made by the committee, consisting of Mike Sullivan, Rollin Reed and Harold Rankin, which was appointed at the June meeting. The Davis building is being used by a large number of the youth, especially the boys, reports Coach Larry Hanson, who is directing the play there.

Politics and the part, if any, that the Chamber of Commerce should take in political campaigns, also will come before the meeting, reports Mrs. Charlotte Young, the secretary. An amendment to the by-laws forbidding the organization to participate actively, as a group, in politics, will be presented at Monday's meeting.

Another amendment to the by-laws to be presented prescribes the authority to be given to the directors of the organization to appropriate funds from the treasury.

Dinner to Precede Meeting
Monday's meeting will be held at the Ocean Village Cafe at the foot of W. Point Loma Blvd. and will be preceded by a dinner to be served at 7 o'clock.

Every business and professional man and woman in Ocean Beach, as well as other local folks interested in promoting the community interest and welfare here, is invited to attend the dinner and meeting, announce the officers.

CHARLES LANGER, RESIDENT OF SAN DIEGO 52 YEARS, DIES AT HOME SATURDAY

Last rites for Charles E. Langer, 61, who died Saturday in his home at 4859 Voltaire st., were conducted Wednesday at 3 o'clock in Bonham Brothers' chapel, with Rev. P. S. Harris officiating. Burial was in the F. O. E. plot in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Mr. Langer was a machinist employed by the Lynch Shipbuilding Company. He was the son of a pioneer family, who came here from Nebraska, and had lived in San Diego 52 years. He was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie No. 244, and the International Association of Machinists, Lodge No. 389.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Genevieve A. Langer; his brother, Reinold Langer of the same address, and his step-son, George A. Gordan, U. S. Navy.

KIWANIS CLUB WILL MEET AT DOOR OF HOPE HOME SUNDAY EVENING

Ocean Beach Kiwanis club will meet at the Salvation Army "Door of Hope" home at 2301 Bolinas st., and will be hosts to 20 members of the National City Kiwanis club, on the next regular meeting night of Tuesday, July 11, announces Secretary Burritt S. Mills. The hour is 6:30 p.m. as usual, he says. Provision is being made for approximately 50 guests at the dinner at which Major Clara Flack and the dining department of the "Door of Hope" will do the honors.

Major Flack is arranging an interesting program for the session following the dinner. Myron Insko will officiate as program chairman for the Ocean Beach club.

Fourth Passes With Accidents Down to Minimum

The July Fourth holiday passed here with less than the usual number of accidents, and at Mission Beach, where most of the swimming in the surf was enjoyed for this area, the life-guards experienced a holiday comparatively free from the need for their services.

Arrests also were fewer than had been expected, report the local police, and were mostly for drunkenness, there being six of these cases. One arrest was made on a charge of being disorderly as well as drunk, the arrest being that of Max L. Weems, 33, Ocean Beach, the evening of July 4, by Officers Wm. Shewbert and D. Baldwin. They found him hiding in the bushes near his home on Santa Cruz ave. Witnesses stated that Weems had struck his wife over the head with his cane.

Peeping Tom Reported
The police were called to 3449 Convoir st. at 3 a. m. Sunday by report of a neighbor who spied a peeping Tom operating in that neighborhood. Identification, however, was insufficient to justify an arrest, report Officers Nelson and Berry.

Mission Beach drew thousands on the Fourth, though the total was not more than on some of the busy Sundays this season, report the officers.

A feature of the program there was an old-fashioned picnic with athletic contests, hog calling, husband calling and foot races of all kinds. The day's entertainment there was climaxed by an attractive display of pre-war fireworks.

Capt. Charles Hardy, chief of San Diego city police lifeguards, said that about 20 of approximately 200 swimmers entered in the Mission bay contest had to be pulled from the water when they became exhausted battling a stiff current running across the channel. About 12 others were assisted from the surf after they had stepped into deep holes. Their names were not learned.

Sailor Hit By Bus
One sailor, Charles B. Carling, 22, a pharmacist's mate, third class, was killed in a motor vehicle traffic accident Saturday night. Investigating officers were informed that Carling was struck by a bus while he was running across Pacific highway at Juniper st. The sailor became confused, hesitated, slipped and fell beneath the vehicle, according to the police report.

Paul A. Bass, 29, 2174 Guizot st., driver of the bus, was held on suspicion of involuntary manslaughter, but was released on $500 bond.

MOTHER OF H. R. THOMA CALLED BY DEATH JULY 1

Mrs. Jennie Thoma, mother of Robert H. Thoma, proprietor of Roberts Bakery on Bacon st., died Saturday night at the age of 79. She had been making her home with her son here at 4451 Niagara ave. for the past year and had lived in San Diego for 30 years.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon, with services at the Benbough mortuary chapel at 2 p.m. Cremation followed.

Only other members of her immediate family are two other sons, Max G. of Hollywood and Rupert O. of Oakland. The former was here for the funeral and the latter had been with his mother here last week.

IN-THE-SERVICE - Tournament Play Features Summer Recreation Plan

Elmer Lee Snelson, 20, motor machinist's mate 2/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Snelson, of 4419 Montalvo st., has completed basic training at the submarine school, New London, Conn. He has served at sea and twice has been commended for good service.

Sam Ritter, Harlan Driscoll and Lawrence H. Purdy, all graduates this year of Pt. Loma high school, left early this week for Missoula, Mont. to attend the University of Montana, to begin training for the army air corps.

Warren Stone, apprentice seaman, spent last week at his home, 4782 Brighton ave., coming here from the University of California at Berkeley, where he is a student at the V-12 navy school. He had returned in February from about two years of duty with the navy in the south Pacific.

First Lt. Wolfe de Lyre has been promoted to captain, according to word received here this week by his wife, Mrs. Ethel de Lyre, 4545 Santa Monica ave. He is now on duty in the south Pacific. Captain de Lyre formerly practiced dentistry in Ocean Beach.

Emmette C. Williams, Jr., whose father resides at 3133 Vancouver st., has won his wings and a commission as second lieutenant after successfully completing the Army Air Force's training course at Williams Field, Chandler, Ariz. He is a former student of Pt. Loma high school.

Two midshipmen from Ocean Beach have been graduated from the Navy's school of indoctrination, Camp Macdonough, at Plattsburg, N. Y., the 11th Naval district announced this week, and they have been commissioned ensigns. They are Raymond L. Malcolm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Malcolm of 4862 Voltaire st., and William E. Nelson, Jr.

Lt. (jg) Fred Thompson of Annapolis, Md., has been visiting friends in Ocean Beach. While here he was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. McConnell, 1430 Froude st. Lt. and Mrs. Thompson formerly lived on Coronado st., Ocean Beach. Mrs. Thompson, however, was unable to accompany her husband here because of a minor accident. Lt. Thompson left from San Diego for service overseas.

Wayne L. Rosenberg, seaman third class, writes The News that he has been transferred from the U. S. LST boat and is now "attached to a coast guard cutter which tends buoys up and down the coast of California." He says he wishes, "in a way, he were again attached to the LST boat" because "I sure miss the ship and the fellows. Besides already I'm getting tired of state-side duty and want to get back into the thick of things."

Mr. and Mrs. A. McConnell, 1430 Froude st., arrived home Friday from a week spent in Los Angeles, where they attended a convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Price of La Jolla.

Mrs. P. A. Stacy and two sons are here to spend the summer with her mother, Mrs. Lee Stratton, 4838 Santa Cruz ave. Mrs. Stacy came from New Orleans where her husband has been stationed. Little Lee Stratton was born since their arrival in Ocean Beach.

Tournament Play Features Summer Recreation Plan

Tournaments are a feature of the summer recreational program that is under way in the Davis building at the foot of Santa Monica st., reports the director, Larry Hanson. Hanson, who established an enviable record at La Jolla high school for victorious high school teams during the past school year, has been employed by the city to direct the youth play at this Ocean Beach recreational center.

On four nights a week the center features a different tournament. The tournaments are of the continuation type, reports Coach Hanson, with the points awarded to the five high men each week. Then these points are added to the week to week until the close of the tournament. Suitable awards will then be given to the high ranking athletes, he says.

The weekly schedule calls for ping pong, round robin type tournament on Tuesdays, starting at 7:30 p. m. On Wednesday the play is pool and the type is single elimination. Thursdays are reserved for basketball league play, and in this bracket there are six competing teams. Friday is the badminton night, with tournament play scheduled to start Friday, July 7.

Entries in the various tournaments are open at all times to all people who wish to take part, announces Coach Hanson.

The basketball league has played the first two of the four rounds these teams are to play. The teams are evenly matched, and most of the victories thus far have been by one to five point margins. The six teams and their records to date are:

	Won	Lost
La Jolla Bees	5	2
Pt. Loma A	4	2
Pt. Loma Bees	4	3
La Jolla A	3	3
Stone's Stars	2	4
Rice's Yanks	1	5

Stangle High Point Scorer

In front for individual scoring honors in the league at this time is Richard Stangle with 68 points. Others on the list who will try to overcome the leader are Bob Fleming 50, Jack Rand 26, Bob Bernman 50, Ken Lyons 29, Bill Kettnerburg 63, Louis Almgren 31, Ed Teagle 23, C. Leipensburger 27, Ray Hoobler 20, John Kowal 21, John Kennedy 11, Bob Gosnell 9, Louis Karnes 9, Bill Stone 12, Bill Hamlin 8, John Mehas 7, Frank Cardenas 6, Dick Lehrer 6, Bob Pastori 6, Harold Marquis 6, Carl Stanzione 8, John Mader 12, Allan Blackwell 4, Bob White 12, Bob Bower 2, Malcolm Gibson 2, Don Heggerley 2, Bob Sherrell 12, Bob Roy Nelson 10, "Doc" Hurst 27, Coach Hanson 24, Jim Groschel 12, Bill Robinson 12, Bill Rice 2, Dick Beh 12, Ed Jorgensen 16.

Rand Tops in Ping Pong

Leaders of the ping pong tournament at the present time are Jack Rand (9), Jim Groschel (6), John Kowal (5), Bob Pastori (4), Bill Stone (4), Grace Hessions (3½), C. Hanson (3½), Richard Stangle (3), Emmett Hurst (3), Wesley Hession (2), Perry Wyman (1). The points awarded are on the 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis each week.

The leaders of the pool tournament right now are: Wesley Hessions (8), Jim Groschel (8), Dene Howell (5), Coach Hanson (5), Ken Lyons (3), Jack Rand (3), Chunky Leipensburger (3), Ray Clark (3), Roger Reddin (1), John Van Holst (1).

C. C. WILLIAMS, FORMER OCEAN BEACH MAN, DIES

Claude C. Williams, a former resident of Ocean Beach for several years, passed away Wednesday in his home at Ramona. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. in Bonham Brothers chapel. Cremation will follow.

He was born in Tennessee 64 years ago and had been a resident of Ramona for 21 years. He was deputy sheriff there for 13 years before his retirement in 1942. He had attained the rank of captain in World War I. His widow, two sons and a sister survive.

Ocean Beach firemen were called Tuesday night to a fire of undetermined origin at the Robert E. Price residence in La Jolla. The house suffered considerable damage, they report. Mr. and Mrs. Price, who are well known here, happened to be in town attending the firemen's circus at Balboa park at the time of the fire.

Kraft Reports On Special Session Of Legislature

State Assemblyman Fred H. Kraft, 78th district, returned home Friday evening after attending the special session of the California legislature, and as a member of the Assembly commission on aviation, made a survey of the northern counties. Mrs. Kraft accompanied Mr. Kraft to Sacramento and they were away from home exactly one month. The special session of the California legislature was called by Governor Warren to enact emergency black market legislation, revise the teachers' pension system, and to make additional plans for post-war employment.

The wartime session, outstanding for its speed and efficiency, has earmarked appropriations of $135,000,000, most of it for post-war public works, Assemblyman Kraft said.

The teachers' retirement bill increase puts the pension system of California's educators on a pay-as-you-go basis. Added costs are to be financed both by the teachers and the state, with biennial appropriations by the legislature from a $30,000,000 fund earmarked for the purpose. The main measure of the public works program to provide jobs in the post-war era was setting aside $50,000,000 in addition to an accumulating fund expected to reach $82,000,000 in another year.

Also included in the program were outright appropriations of more than $45,000,000 for state institutions and office building sites, to be spent by a property acquisition board of three state officers, and new appropriations for plans and surveys for state and University of California buildings.

Racketeers Face Penalties

The black market bill is aimed at racketeers engaged in counterfeiting ration stamps or dealing in bogus or illegally obtained stamps. It provides for stiff penalties. "California, recognizing the employment problems the post-war will bring, has taken the lead by being the first state in the nation to face this gigantic emergency," Assemblyman Kraft declared.

"By earmarking our surplus funds for future worthwhile purposes at this time we are guaranteeing employment for our gallant men and women who are today making such great sacrifices for all of us; we hope to have the jobs ready and waiting when they return," Assemblyman Kraft emphasized.

Call Issued to Teen-Age Boys for Junior Baseball

Reporting Wednesday on progress of the plans for an Ocean Beach junior league baseball team under the auspices of the local American Legion post, Commander Dan Moss stated that from Fred Kraft he had received assurance of substantial financial assistance in taking care of the expenses of the team. "We are, of course, aiming to provide uniforms as much as possible," he said.

Right now he is anxious to have all the teen-age boys interested in trying out for the team report either to him or to Fred Kraft, he said Wednesday. "Soon as we have enough candidates for the team, we will call them together and get organized," he said.

Commander Moss believes that here is one of the best opportunities to provide wholesome play and entertainment during the summer months.

Next step will be to make arrangements for a playing field, he indicated.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR MRS. GEORGE L. STONE CONDUCTED WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucille Stone, 43, of 4927 Saratoga st., a resident of San Diego for 29 years, were held Wednesday at the Merkley-Austin chapel, conducted by the Latter Day Saints church. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery. Her death was recorded Saturday.

Surviving are her widower, George Leonard Stone; three sons, Leonard L., Edward L. and Frederick W.; and two daughters, Lucille M. and Evelyn June Stone.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S. Navy Blasts Japan's Fleet
But Enemy Refuses Showdown;
Allies Push Forward in Europe

Released by Western Newspaper Union.
(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Pacific—Circle indicates scene of big naval battle in which U. S. fleet clashed with strong Jap forces.

EUROPE:
Last Stand

As U. S. Doughboys closed on the big French port of Cherbourg at the tip of the Cotentin peninsula about 75 miles from Britain, desperate German defenders acting on Field Marshal von Rundstedt's orders to resist to the last man, put up a bloody last-ditch fight, demolishing the harbor facilities to prevent their immediate use when the town fell.

As the Yanks pressed in on Cherbourg, other Allied forces along the 100-mile-wide beachhead continued to probe deeper inland, meeting up with stiff Nazi counterattacks designed to curtail their advances.

Fleets of Allied bombers roared over the battle area, hitting at Nazi strong points and aiming at enemy reinforcements moving up to the front. Ramps in the Calais region from which the Germans were launching their rocket bombs for attacks against southern England and London, remained under heavy fire of Allied aircraft.

On other European fronts, the Russians reportedly launched a large-scale offensive against the Germans' big bulge on the north end of the 1,200-mile eastern battle line, while Allied troops chased the Nazis up the Italian peninsula to prepared positions guarding the northern plains.

Using strong tank and infantry forces, the Reds reportedly struck at German forces massed to retain the Nazis' last great foothold on Russian territory, even while they were continuing their drive through tiny, tottering Finland from the southwest and east. Not only would the direction of the new big offensive point Red armies toward Warsaw and Berlin, but it would also serve to whittle down a potential Nazi springboard for an encirclement attack against Russian forces to the south.

In Italy, Allied forces moved ahead after eliminating pockets of stubborn German rear-guard, putting up a desperate delaying action to permit the bulk of the Nazi forces to retire behind the new defense line.

BILL OF RIGHTS:
For GIs

Estimated to cost from 3 to 6 billion dollars, congress passed and the President signed the so-called "bill of rights" for vets of World War II, designed to avoid the hardships suffered by soldiers of World War I upon their demobilization.

Under the "bill of rights," vets will be entitled to an unemployment compensation of $20 a week for 52 weeks during the first two years after the war, if unable to find suitable work. Also available will be at least one year of schooling for vets whose education was interrupted by the war, with the government providing $500 for tuition and $50 monthly for subsistence, plus $25 for dependents.

For vets seeking to buy or repair farms or homes or establish small businesses, the government will guarantee 50 per cent of the loan up to a maximum of $2,000, with interest at 4 per cent and the amount repayable in 20 years. The veterans' administration also is authorized to spend one-half billion to provide hospital facilities for the care of returning servicemen.

PACIFIC:
Japs Run Out

Venturing forth from its home waters, Japan's boasted imperial fleet sailed within proximity of the U. S.'s mighty Fifth naval force but dodged a showdown fight after U. S. planes sent one enemy aircraft carrier and three of his tankers to the bottom of the sea between the Marianas and Philippine islands.

Adm. Spruance Plowing boldly into the foe's home waters to support U. S. marine and ground troops in their assault on Saipan island in the inner ring of the Japs' defense system, the Fifth naval force under command of Adm. Raymond Spruance offered a brave challenge to the enemy fleet close to its major bases, but the Nips broke off the engagement after suffering loss of 373 planes besides the four ships in two days of continuing action.

Meanwhile, U. S. ground forces met bitter opposition on Saipan, about 1,500 miles from the Japanese homeland, as they fought to extend their hold on the central sector of the island.

OPA:
Vote Extension

By agreeing to allow revisions in ceilings of major textile items to reflect parity prices on cotton, senate and house conferences paved the way for extension of OPA to June, 1945. The nation's farm bloc scored another victory in the act's provision that the President take all lawful action to assure parity on cotton, corn, wheat, rice and tobacco.

Whittling down a maze of amendments to the act, the conferees did provide for some changes in OPA, including:

1. Filing of protests against OPA regulations;
2. Adjustment of rent ceilings where they are higher or lower than the prevailing standards, or if landlords' costs or taxes have increased substantially;
3. Permission for retailers to carry higher priced goods in certain lines than they did in the prewar period.

FOOD:

Postwar Stocks

In order to avoid the glut of 1919, the government's surplus stocks of foods will be released through normal trade channels after the war, M. Lee Marshall, War Food administration director of distribution, revealed.

Although original vendors would be given the opportunity to repurchase food stocks, WFA will only accept fair bids and sell in areas where particular types of commodities are scarce, Marshall said.

With the termination of the war in Europe and the shipments of food overseas, there will be no need for the stockpiling of commodities, Marshall said. Coupled with military reserves, present food stocks should provide a large part of the needs of liberated people, who will have to eat while being rehabilitated.

Grandstand View of Normandy Beachhead

This is how the American section of the Normandy beachhead looks, viewed from a bluff where German gunners once had a position. As far as the eye can see there are invasion crafts, ferrying fighting Yanks and other Allied soldiers as well as munitions and equipment to the beach. Barrage balloons swing above the transports like lazy crows to protect them against possible dive bombing attack. All is quiet on this strip of beach now, but in the first hours of the invasion death and terror ran rampant here.

Yanks Given First-Aid Treatment on Ship

Insert shows United States navy hospital corpsmen aboard the battleship giving speedy treatment to wounded Yank army Rangers, casualties of the fierce battle for the beachheads that marked the first few days of the Allied invasion of Normandy. In lower photo the casualties are being brought aboard. Wounded in France, the Rangers were carefully hoisted aboard the battleship U. S. S. Texas after a speedy trip out from the embattled shoreline in one of the latest landing crafts.

Family Starts 1944 Harvest

With sons and farm hands in the armed services and defense plants, 1944 harvest begins to look like a "ma" and "pa" job. In many parts of Kansas the farmers are pooling their work in order to get the harvest done. Prisoners of war as well as a large number of school children and city people on vacation will be doing their part.

Romans Arrest Fascist Leaders

Armed anti-Fascist civilians help a Roman policeman escort an ex "big shot" of the Fascists to the jail where he will be held until tried for crimes committed under the Mussolini regime. The civilians, soon after the fall of Rome to Allies, armed themselves and began an open hunt, until Allied authorities took over the job.

Morte Pour La France

"Morte Pour La France," translated means, "Died For France." The French civilians made this grave for a Yank who died in action. He was one of the first to land on the Normandy beachhead during the initial landing stages of the invasion operations.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

P.O.W. STRIKE: German war prisoners have refused to work in beet fields near Scotts Bluff, Neb., because their pay basis has been changed. Formerly they received 80 cents a day flat rate. This has been changed to a piece work rate of 80 cents for each quarter acre thinned. Lieut. Col. Clyde Dempster said disciplinary action would be taken if the men continued on strike.

EMPLOYMENT: A decline of 100,000 workers per month in war plants has been the trend since the beginning of the year, the department of commerce reports. While in sections shortages of manpower exist, the overall picture of the nation is a downward movement in factory employment, the report went on. In nonwar jobs, employment will remain the same.

GOVERNOR WARREN REMAINS

The decision of Governor Warren not to accept the Republican vice-presidential nomination in spite of his tremendous popularity at the Chicago convention, assures California of sound leadership in the trying days ahead.

Governor Warren realizes that beyond victory California faces problems—and opportunities—probably greater than those of any other state. Work will have to be provided for the tens of thousands now engaged in war work, and those returning from the armed forces.

New industries must be developed to fill the gaps that will be left by the inevitable cessation of war production. Special attention must be given to California's highway program for it is with highway transportation that the future progress of our state is indissolubly linked. To no other state are commercial motor carriers of greater importance in the moving of crops and in the handling of industrial freight.

In spite of the magnitude of the job ahead, we Californians face the future with confidence. We know that our state is rich in natural resources, and stands in a favorable geographical spot to realize the benefits of the post-war trade with the Orient.

Under able leadership from Sacramento, together with the industry and capacity of our people, we know that there need not be a long trough of depression following victory. Rather, we can use the gains made during the war as stepping stones to still higher economic achievements.

We are fully convinced that California is destined to become the business and population center of America. Under the administration of Governor Warren long strides can be made in that direction.

"IN THIS CORNER—"

The presidential challenger, Thomas E. Dewey of New York, together with his able second, Governor John Bricker of Ohio, has climbed into the national political ring. The present "champion," President Roosevelt, is expected to follow in mid-July. Then the quadrennial battle for the political heavyweight championship of America will get under way in earnest.

Observers agree that the GOP nominees are the most experienced and "ring-wise" opponents Mr. Roosevelt has yet confronted. Both have won their present standing by coming up through the political training grounds of districts, cities and states. Mr. Dewey punched his way to the top in New York state in 1942 after losing a close decision in 1938, thus becoming the first Republican governor of the Empire state in many years.

Mr. Bricker scored a political knockout in Ohio by being elected three times to the governorship. He was considered a certainty to be elected again but withdrew to enter the national political arena.

Indications are that Mr. Dewey will do considerably less "foot work" in the coming presidential match than was done by Mr. Roosevelt's opponents in 1936 and 1940. It is said that the New York governor will not make more than half a dozen major speeches—each in a different section of the country. Apparently Mr. Dewey intends to throw fewer, but heavier, punches in his bid for the "title."

Both challenger and champion appear in top form for the contest. May the best man win!

BONDS HELP TO PREVENT WAR

A lot is being said and written about making this the last world war. We know of no better way than to fight this one to a finish in the shortest time possible. That means all-out effort on the home front as well as on the fighting front. And the immediate job on the home front is to meet the quota for the Fifth War loan drive.

Special credit goes to Chairman Burrill S. Mills and those who are helping him to put over the local part of the campaign. They report that some of the stores are "over the top" on the quota of $400 worth of bonds sold by each employee, but that not as many of the places of business are working in the "Third Army" as there should be.

With the heavy fighting not much more than started in Europe this is no time to figure that the war is won. On the contrary it is the time to figure that more bonds than ever need to be purchased, in order to provide the equipment that our invasion armies need for rapid advance. Otherwise the road to Berlin is going to be a long and tedious one and is going to cost more American lives than it needs to. Let it be said of Ocean Beach folks again by Saturday night of this week, at the close of the Fifth War loan drive that all have "gone over the top" and saved lives of our boys in Europe.

GRANDMOTHERS' SALARIES BUY BONDS FOR GRANDCHILDREN

Mrs. Elizabeth Taggart (left) and Mrs. Edna Neff

NEW YORK, N. Y.: The slogan of the Grandmothers War Bond League, "Grandmother's Bond with the Future—War Bonds," is a common bond between two hard working grandmothers at the Aero Spark Plug Corporation in New York. Mrs. Elizabeth Taggart (left) and Mrs. Edna Neff invest part of their salaries in War Bonds every pay day.

Three-year-old grandson, John Wurmser, is co-owner of the Bonds Mrs. Taggart buys to back her fighting Seabee stepson, James Taggart. Mrs. Neff's 10-month-old granddaughter, Barbara Ann, receives War Bonds gifts as part of her grandmother's "back the attack" program in honor of Barbara's Marine daddy, a master technical sergeant, the highest rank of an enlisted Marine.

Endorsing the Grandmothers League founded by Mrs. Marshall, wife of the General, Mrs. Neff agrees with Mrs. Taggart that "in buying Bonds with our grandchildren as co-owners, we have an emergency fund to use if necessary. But we don't expect that. We want the Bonds to be there for the children's education."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." This verse from the Psalms will be the Golden Text in the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Sacrament" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

A Lesson-Sermon selection from Luke's Gospel relates that Jesus "went, as he was wont, to the mount of Olives; and his disciples also followed him. And when he was at the place, he said unto them, Pray that ye enter not into temptation. And he was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down, and prayed, Saying, Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done. And there appeared an angel unto him from heaven, strengthening him."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes: "Consistent prayer is the desire to do right." "Prayer, watching, and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind."

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Pfc. William C. Kelly, of Silver Spring, Maryland, was on observation post duty for his front line regiment in Italy. He spotted German mortar and machine gun emplacements, reporting to artillery observer to direct fire. Hastily he advised the CP with compass directions in place of artillery technical data. A third round hit squarely on the enemy. We must buy War Bonds and hold 'em with the same constant eye on the enemy.

Bow Your Heads

THIS is Invasion! Now in the hearts, brains and muscles of our American Youth lies the future of our country.

Bow your heads. Pray with millions of mothers the country over, as their hearts reach out over the seas, each one seeking out her boy, to protect him with the shield of her love.

Believe that in this world there is definite strength in decency and honor. Believe that in our devotion there is moral force. Believe that our will to victory will aid that victory.

Seek and ye shall find!

Let us seek added strength and fortitude for our men in our own sacrifice and devotion.

Let us focus every thought, every action, and every prayer on the boys fighting for us.

And, while each one bends to his task with ever-growing fervor and energy, let us adopt a common symbol as our faith in Victory.

Let that Symbol be War Bonds. Let us pour our money in a gigantic flood of goodwill toward our sons and brothers, as a spiritual shield for them.

This is the Invasion. The lives of our boys are at stake. Let them see that the Soul of America is with them.

Let it not be too late...not next month, next week, or tomorrow, but today...now.

Wreckage Litters Beach But It Was Expendable

German Prisoners See Replacements Pour Across Sea They Guarded So Long

By Ernie Pyle

NORMANDY BEACHHEAD (By wireless, delayed)—I took a walk along the historic coast of Normandy in the country of France.

It was a lovely day for strolling along the seashore. Men were sleeping on the sand, some of them sleeping forever. Men were floating in the water, but they didn't know they were in the water, for they were dead.

The water was full of squishy little jellyfish about the size of your hand. Millions of them. In the center each of them had a green design exactly like a four-leaf clover. The good-luck emblem. Sure. Hell yes.

I walked for a mile and a half along the water's edge of our many-miled invasion beach. You wanted to walk slowly, for the detail on that beach was infinite.

The wreckage was vast and startling. The awful waste and destruction of war, even aside from the loss of human life, has always been one of its outstanding features to those who are in it. Anything and everything is expendable. And we did expend on our beachhead in Normandy during those first few hours.

For a mile out from the beach there were scores of tanks and trucks and boats that you could no longer see, for they were at the bottom of the water—swamped by overloading, or hit by shells, or sunk by mines. Most of their crews were lost.

You could see trucks tipped half over and swamped. You could see partly sunken barges, and the angled-up corners of jeeps, and small landing craft half submerged. And at low tide you could still see those vicious six-pronged iron snags that helped snag and wreck them.

On the beach itself, high and dry, were all kinds of wrecked vehicles. There were tanks that had only just made the beach before being knocked out. There were jeeps that had burned to a dull gray. There were big derricks on caterpillar treads that didn't quite make it. There were half-tracks carrying off-lace equipment that had been made into a shambles by a single shell hit, their interiors still holding their useless equipment of smashed typewriters, telephones, office files.

There were LCT's turned completely upside down, and lying on their backs, and how they got that way I don't know. There were boats stacked on top of each other, their sides caved in, their suspension doors knocked off.

In this shoreline museum of carnage there were abandoned rolls of barbed wire and smashed bulldozers and big stacks of thrown-away lifebelts and piles of shells still waiting to be moved.

In the water floated empty life rafts and soldiers' packs and ration boxes, and mysterious oranges.

On the beach lay snarled rolls of telephone wire and big rolls of steel matting and stacks of broken, rusting rifles.

On the beach lay, expended, sufficient men and mechanism for a small war. They were gone forever now. And yet we could afford it.

We could afford it because we were on, and we had our toe-hold, and behind us there were such enormous replacements for this wreckage on the beach that you could hardly conceive of their sum total. Men and equipment were flowing from England in such a gigantic stream that it made the waste on the beachhead seem like nothing at all, really nothing at all.

A few hundred yards back on the beach is a high bluff. Up there we had a tent hospital, and a barbed-wire enclosure for prisoners of war. From up there you could see far up and down the beach, in a spectacular cove's-nest view, and far out to sea.

And standing out there on the water beyond all this wreckage was the greatest armada man has ever seen. You simply could not believe the gigantic collection of ships that lay out there waiting to unload.

Looking from the bluff, it lay thick and clear to the far horizon of the sea and on beyond, and it spread out to the sides and was miles wide. Its utter enormity would move the hardest man.

As I stood up there I noticed a group of freshly taken German prisoners standing nearby. They had not yet been put in the prison cage. They were just standing there, a couple of doughboys leisurely guarding them with Tommy guns.

The strong, swirling tides of the Normandy coastline shift the contours of the sandy beach as they move in and out. They carry soldiers' bodies out to sea, and later they return them. They cover the corpses of heroes with sand, and then in their whims they uncover them.

As I plowed out over the wet sand of the beach on that first day ashore, I walked around what seemed to be a couple of pieces of driftwood sticking out of the sand. But they weren't driftwood.

They were a soldier's two feet. He was completely covered by the shifting sands except for his feet. The toes of his G.I. shoes pointed toward the land he had come so far to see, and which he saw so briefly.

The prisoners too were looking out to sea—the same bit of sea that for months and years had been so safely empty before their gaze. Now they stood staring almost as if in a trance.

They didn't say a word to each other. They didn't need to. The expression on their faces was something forever unforgettable. In it was the final horrified acceptance of their doom.

If only all Germany could have had the rich experience of standing on the bluff and looking out across the water and seeing what their compatriots saw.

Along the Normandy beaches extends a thin little line, just like a high-water mark, for miles along the beach. This is the strewn personal gear, gear that will never be needed again, of those who fought and died to give us our entrance into Europe.

Here in a jumbled row for mile on mile are soldiers' packs. Here are socks and shoe polish, sewing kits, diaries, Bibles and hand grenades. Here are the latest letters from home, with the address on each one neatly razored out—one of the security precautions enforced before the boys embarked.

Here are toothbrushes and razors, and snapshots of families back home staring up at you from the sand. Here are pocketbooks, metal mirrors, extra trousers, and bloody, abandoned shoes. Here are broken-handled shovels, and portable radios smashed almost beyond recognition, and mine detectors twisted and ruined.

Here are torn pistol belts and canvas water buckets, first-aid kits and jumbled heaps of lifebelts. I picked up a pocket Bible with a soldier's name in it, and put it in my jacket. I carried it half a mile or so and then put it back down on the beach. I don't know why I picked it up, or why I put it back down.

Over and around this long thin line of personal anguish, fresh men today are rushing vast supplies to keep our armies pushing on into France. Other squads of men pick amidst the wreckage to salvage ammunition and equipment that are still usable.

Men worked and slept on the beach for days before the last D-day victim was taken away for burial.

I stepped over the form of one youngster whom I thought dead. But when I looked down I saw he was only sleeping. He was very young, and very tired. He lay on one elbow, his hand suspended in the air about six inches from the ground. And in the palm of his hand he held a large, smooth rock.

I stood and looked at him a long time. He seemed in his sleep to hold that rock lovingly, as though it were his last link with a vanishing world. I have no idea at all why he went to sleep with the rock in his hand, or what kept him from dropping it once he was asleep. It was just one of those little things without explanation, that a person remembers for a long time.

How Ernie's Fellow Correspondents Fared

When I went ashore on the soil of France the first thing I wanted to do was hunt up the other correspondents I had said good-by to a few days previously in England.

It was early in the morning, before the boys had started out on their day's round of covering the war. I found them in foxholes dug into the rear slope of a grassy hill about a half-mile from the beach.

First of all we checked with each other on what we had heard about other correspondents. Most of them were o.k. One had been killed, and one was supposed to have been lost on a sunken ship, but we didn't know who. One or two had been wounded. Three of our best friends had not been heard from at all, and it looked bad, but they have since turned up safe.

NON-TAXING PAYING POWER PROJECTS

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, with money of the taxpayers of the nation, has built a number of large electric power plants, including TVA, Grand Coulee, Bonneville and other smaller ones. They are located, not where they might be most needed, but where the hydro power can be had.

These federal power projects pay no taxes, either county, state or federal. They have no fixed interest charges to meet, for the taxpayers have provided the funds needed to construct them. Those responsible for their construction claim they will serve as an index to the cost of producing electricity by which to fix prices charged by privately owned utilities.

A privately owned utility that is expected to, and does, compete in a price war with these government projects is the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, serving cities, towns and farms in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, a section of New York, and Maryland.

The money to supply the plants, transmission and pipe lines of that corporation was provided by 82,329 American citizens, of whom 36,482 were women. They are the stockholders and these stockholders have a total investment of just about 727 million dollars.

While the government-constructed and owned plants pay no taxes, the Columbia corporation paid as taxes 27 cents out of each dollar it received from the sale of its products.

More than one-fourth of its total revenue went to the support of government. Out of each dollar of its receipts, it paid to those who provided the plants—the stockholders—five cents. Out of that five cents each stockholder paid as income taxes not less than one cent, one-fifth of what he received.

Eighteen cents out of each dollar of revenue was paid to employees. Of that 18 cents, 17 went to those receiving wages of less than $5,000 a year and one cent to those receiving salaries of $5,000 or more. Two cents out of each dollar was set aside to provide for replacements, expansion and rainy-day periods that may come even to utilities.

The Columbia corporation paid in taxes in 1943 more than 38 million dollars. It is but one of a large number of privately owned utilities. I have no idea as to what the taxes paid by all such utilities would be, but it is an enormous sum. If our Washington economic planners should succeed in taxing or legislating these privately owned utilities out of business, the taxes they are paying for the support of local, state and federal government must be collected from other sources, and would mean more for each and every one of us to pay. It would also mean a loss for 82,329 stockholder American citizens.

FOOD WILL BE ONLY A FRACTION OF FARM OUTPUT

A FEW DAYS BEFORE the close of World War I, Andrew Tardieu, a member of the French cabinet, said to me in Paris:

"France will not again be a good customer for American farm products. Now we must provide our own food, and in the Niger valley in Africa, raise our own cotton. We will have nothing left with which to buy from America."

After the close of that war France did raise much of her cotton in Africa, she did greatly increase her food production; she was not again a good customer of American farms. What was true of France was also true of much of Europe. The foreign market for American farm products was gone. For one or two years following the close of this war Europe will provide a market for American-produced food, for which America will pay. After that the present war-devastated countries will have resumed production and will feed themselves.

Instead of the American farmer feeding the hungry of Europe, he will be feeding the machines of American industry, producing crops that can be used in industrial production. In the future food will be only a part of our farm production, and what has largely been farm waste will also have a value. For that ever increasing industrial market, the farmer's thanks should go largely to Wheeler McMillen and to Henry Ford.

WHERE IS THE WORKMAN

to be when the whistle blows—at the door of the plant or at the machine inside the plant? That recent Supreme court decision says he shall be at the door, but the judges used a lot of words in saying so.

IN THE END THE REALISTS, rather than the idealists, will fix the peace terms.

FOR GOVERNOR DEWEY it would seem that silence has proven golden.

Allied Show of Power Affects Enemy Morale

Robot Plane Attacks Used to Bolster Home-Front Spirits Following First Invasion Landings.

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Services, Union Trust Building Washington, D. C.

In the last days of June when the papers were full of stories of Germany's "secret weapon," the robot plane, a scene which I witnessed some three decades ago returned to haunt me. I stood in a large tent with a crowd of people, oh-ing and ah-ing at a mechanical miracle we were witnessing. It was in Germany. Before us stood a pompous gentleman in evening clothes with ferocious mustachios. He had a wand in his hand and with it directed the movement of a beautiful little dirigible about three feet long, a perfect replica of the zeppelins which were just beginning to be talked about.

It did look rather startling. The impressario moved his wand to the right and the miniature dirigible started off around the top of the tent, its tiny propellers whirling. He dipped his wand and the little ship nosed down and began to descend. He traced a graceful circle upward and the ship ascended and reproduced his movement in the air. Finally, after performing all sorts of such feats it gracefully descended and landed on a table.

It was an impressive sight but afterwards an American engineer who had witnessed the display explained to me that it was all "perfectly simple." He said the wand was merely a signal to a man concealed from the audience who sat before an electric switchboard and controlled the ship by radio. Since then many experiments have been carried on by this type of remote control but so far as I know it has not been used in any engines of war.

Naturally, when I first read the news of the robots, the picture of the little zeppelin floated into my mind. Experts admit that the German pilotless planes are nothing but rockets and they can be sent in only the general direction of their targets. But the same experts freely admit that there could be radio-controlled pilotless planes.

I mention the rocket attacks not so much to emphasize the last hysterical gesture of the writing Teuton, but because they mark an important milestone in the psychological battle whose frenzy has mounted in these weeks since the invasion. The robot attack was not nearly as much of an offensive as a defensive stroke. Reports reaching Washington in the last days indicate that there is a defeatist psychosis mounting in Germany. That this bit of Buck Rogers fantasy was to be an antidote, is clear from the tremendous play it received in German propaganda.

The tension in enemy countries is understandable to any of us in Washington who have gone through the strain of that morning when the first hint came over the air that D-day was dawning. Like many other newsmen, writers and broadcasters, I was routed out of my bed shortly after midnight after being on the alert for weeks, and from then on for many hours that bed was a stranger to me.

How Did the Enemy Feel?

Temperatures rose and fell for many days thereafter but the peaks and valleys of emotion in this country could have been nothing compared with those of our enemies. As yet we cannot know exactly what the German pulse beat was when our forces reached their shores after all the boasting about Hitler's "West Wall"; or how kimonos fluttered when the Japanese homeland was ruthlessly hammered by an engine of war more terrible than any they expected existed—or when American naval guns roared in the Kuriles and the Bonins, almost in Hirohito's back yard.

It takes some time to assay the morale in enemy lands, but thanks to certain reports which have already reached the Allied capitals we can gauge the mental state of the population in Germany.

Some of the information comes from secret sources which may not be disclosed lest they give a hint to the Gestapo as to whom or where the sources are. One such report speaks of that spectre "the third man" who is haunting the Nazi minions everywhere they go. Perhaps he is a bent old derelict sweeping the street crossings. Perhaps he is a garrulous workman drinking his thin beer with a group of friends; perhaps he is even the quiet-faced fellow wearing the swastika, hailing Hitler with the rest. Anyhow, he is described in the document I quote as the "third man" who, like a dark shadow, "overhears all conversations."

"He learns," says a nervous Nazi warning, which I cannot identify further, translation of which I am quoting literally, "that the enemy took a village a week ago, that there is only one German soldier to every 500 meters along the eastern front (I have been told by a Colonel) that the Americans will attack with a hundred thousand aircraft steered by remote control methods (yes, certainly, our charwoman's nephew who works in the secret department in the Reich air ministry says so). . . ." and so the translation runs, revealing the state of Nazi nerves.

No wonder that when the German "secret weapons," the pilotless bombers, were sent over London the German propaganda fairly shrieked its triumph from every house-top in an effort to off-set the grim news of the invasion. Unfortunately for Herr Goebbels, at almost that very moment the most powerful air weapon ever created, the B-29, was making the longest flight on record to strike at the heart of Japan's chief war industry. That, undoubtedly, had its repercussions in Germany.

What is the state of nerves in Berlin, where, according to a correspondent of the Swiss Journal de Geneve, "everywhere one travels there are ruins, piles of rubble . . . paper has taken the place of windows and there are makeshift roofs with no tops on them . . . in many quarters . . . the majority of the inhabitants are buried beneath the ruins. . . ."

No Complaints, Please

You can judge what the government is thinking about the attitude which Berliners are taking by an article printed in the Lokai Anzeiger:

"For the sake of your lives be careful!" it says and then begs that no complaint about their work or revelation of what they are doing be made which might reveal something to the enemy.

"Talk about how well we are fed," the writer begs, "say that the German people get more bread, butter and milk than ever before, that everybody still gets fresh white bread and even occasionally eggs and some lovely apples."

Obviously this is directed to a people utterly discouraged by minds equally desperate. From another source, which I cannot identify, is revealed a message said to come directly from the High Command itself, calling for "strong hearts" to meet the news of the retreats on the Russian front, which it freely admits has become a "psychological burden."

The many members of the National Geographic society have received the remarkable new map of Japan and adjacent regions put out recently by that organization.

This is the first time that a detailed map has been computed with the geographic heart of Tokio as its center. The National Geographic Bulletin states that the exact spot is Tokio's central railway station about which cluster the imperial palace, the central post office and the Marunouchi building, one of the city's largest official structures.

The map has been compiled of entirely new base material and is being used by the general staff and other government departments which opened their files to the National Geographic researchers for its preparation.

Just because we have our eyes on western Europe at the moment is no reason why we should forget what is going on in the Pacific. Fortunately, our forces have been built up there to the point where we can carry on simultaneous action with the movements of the armies in Europe.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

Julius Caesar would have had more time to cross today in invading Britain—the cliffs of Dover have receded that much.

Nazi slave-labor recruitment among women in occupied northern Italy now applies only to unmarried women between the ages of 18 and 30, resulting in a desperate matrimonial rush.

Pillow feathers are so scarce in Hungary and the Balkan countries that Nazis are offering a bribe of one gallon of gas for a quantity of feathers worth about 15 cents.

A "seat changing" signal is given at regular intervals in the crowded trains in Japan, and people who have been sitting stand up to change places with the others.

"80.6% of sufferers showed CLINICAL IMPROVEMENT after only 10-day treatment with SORETONE"
Foster D. Snell, Inc., well-known consulting chemists, have just completed a test with a group of men and women suffering from Athlete's Foot. These people were told to use Soretone. At the end of only a ten-day test period, their feet were examined in two ways: 1. Scrapings were taken from the feet and examined by the bacteriologist. 2. Each subject was examined by a physician. We quote from the report: "After the use of Soretone according to the directions on the label for a period of only ten days, 80.6% of the cases showed clinical improvement of an infection which is most stubborn to control." Improvements were shown in the symptoms of Athlete's Foot—the itching, burning, redness, etc. The report says: "In our opinion Soretone is of very definite benefit in the treatment of this disease, which is commonly known as 'Athlete's Foot.'" So if Athlete's Foot troubles you, don't temporize with this nasty, devilish, stubborn infection. Get SORETONE! McKesson & Robbins, Inc., Bridgeport, Connecticut.

DISTRICT NO. 7
 Bayview 6101.
 When this war is over, many of us won't be able to say "I was there," but let us all be sure we can say "I did my share." Are we buying all the war bonds we can? Have you given your blood at the blood bank? Make an appointment now to do so. Call Franklin 7704. Are you volunteering some of your time towards the war effort assisting the various war agencies where volunteer workers are needed?

Only now after two and a half years of war have we made a landing on the coast of France, whereas in World War I our landings in Europe were made on the coast of France right at the start of the war. We can not relax yet on the home front. Buy war bonds and keep buying them and hold on to them for your future plans. Don't wait for a bond drive to get those bonds. You can buy war bonds all the time at the post office, your local bank and various other bond selling agencies.

The Fifth War Loan drive ends tomorrow, July 8. Get that bond NOW and help put this bond drive far over the top. Don't let the boys down at the war front. This is one way to show we are doing our share.

Again comes the time when we have our local monthly meeting at 1:30 p.m. on Monday, July 10, at the Assembly of God church hall, corner of Cape May and Ebers. "Block" leaders do try to come and urge those in your blocks who can come to do so, too.

Now we can put that no longer needed usable clothing to good use. The city fire stations are again acting as receiving depots. Take the clothing to your local fire station during the Russian Clothing Relief drive, July 12 to July 16.

With reference to our bond selling drive at the Safeway stores, Mrs. Fraser asked her district leaders to commend the women in the way they responded in volunteering to sell war bonds at these stores, having sold $1,000 worth of $25 bonds on their first day, last Friday.

THE RED CROSS IN OCEAN BEACH

By ONA E. PITCOCK

Don't forget that Saturday July 8 will be Red Cross Benefit party day at Presidio park. Corps wagons will meet all busses and cars at Ramona's Marriage Place in Old Town and at Ft. Stockton and Trias st. in Mission Hills. The time will be from 2 until 6 o'clock. There will be entertainment and refreshments.

Don't forget that every Tuesday is cooky day. I received a beautiful letter from the Naval Hospital field director, thanking us for the cookies and telling us how much happiness they give our servicemen in the hospital. Since Mrs. Heidbrink has gone, Mrs. Sundberg, 4594 W. Point Loma blvd., will collect the cookies. She will have a box on her front porch where you may leave them. Please do not forget. You can call her at B-3081. Mrs. Nova Billups will collect for her district and send them to Mrs. Sundberg, where Red Cross will pick them up.

Many thanks to each and every one of you. Mrs. F. B. McElwee sent in 156 funny books this week and Mrs. Weaver brought in a beautiful robe.

We have made operating gowns, pajamas and pneumonia jackets besides slippers, knitted articles and ditty bags.

Mission Beach Women's club sent in 70 pairs of very attractive slippers.
 Call for your work at 4769 Del Monte ave. or call B-5639. You all know to call B-7704 and make an appointment to donate your blood.

WHAT'S BUZZIN'!

By CHERIE.

Did you know that . . .
 The cleverly written poems by Loyd Stuckey, published in "Northeast Corner" of the San Diego Union belong to our own Loyd Stuckey, Sr., here at the Beach? Loyd is in the real estate business and lives at 4766 Del Mar ave.

Our good friends . . .
 Helen Pearce (Bab's Beauty Salon) is taking a month's rest from her "wig" worries. . . Dan Smith (former O. B. barber) is taking it easy, basking in the sunshine. Dan underwent a kidney operation recently. . . After Monday, July 10th, you'll find Helen's Rental Library and Book Store back of Jo Edwards' Flower Shop on Newport. . . Lillian and Ralph Way entertained at dinner Friday evening and 1st Lt. and Mrs. S. J. Roberts were the honored guests. Lt. Roberts has been 20 years in the Marines! . . . Matt Matlock "took off" Monday night for the Consolidated plant at Ft. Worth on business.

Sonia Sivak is back from a two weeks' visit with her husband, who is a Navy chief, stationed at Ft. Hueneme, Oxnard, Calif. . . Serene and Sam Petcher are leaving today for a few days "sight seeing" in Hollywood. . . Mr. and Mrs. Noel Swetland spent the holiday at their Leucadia ranch. . . Fred Kerbacher of Glen's Drive-In received a sport coat from the staff at the cafe to help him celebrate his birthday on June 30.

Al Hunt and Johnny Johnson (Cache of Sweets) took their employees on an outing Tuesday. After a work-out atop the horses, the "gang" went to the beach for a refreshing wiener roast with all the trimmings. A "skating party" climaxed the day, and what a day!
 "Strange Fruit," by Lillian Smith, has been banned in Boston, naturally. And, due to that fact, it has become an over-night "best seller"! It was withdrawn from Boston book stores about the middle of March, ruled obscene in a recent test case, and an appeal is now pending. It's a very extraordinary novel, I admit, but then, Boston has a long puritanical history dating back as far as 1857!

My, how things have changed! Used to be a girl wouldn't be seen walking into a pool room, let alone playing pool! Now, a rum-pus room isn't a "ditto" room unless it boasts of a pool table, and the women are learning fast. Why, s' help me, if they don't even claim a "champion" among them! Keep it up, girls, it's a nice pastime!

There's a close resemblance between getting up in the morning and getting up in the world!

AUTOMOBILE CLUB ISSUES

NEW SAN DIEGO CITY MAP

A new San Diego city and vicinity map, deep etched for clarity and largest ever printed for this area by the Automobile club of Southern California, has just been issued to district offices by that organization's touring bureau. Members of the armed forces as well as Automobile club members may secure the map upon request.

This is the second new map to be issued for San Diego city and vicinity this year. However, this latest map is in much greater detail, covering more territory as well. Area mapped is from Camp Callan on the north to the Mexican border on the south, and to the El Cajon city limits on the east.

Chief: "An' ya got to salute army officers, also."

Recruit: "Why, Chief?"

Chief: "Because they're our Allies, too."

Direct Payments To Needy Higher Than Year Ago

Direct payments for aid to the needy in San Diego county were up 15 percent for May, 1944, compared with May, 1943, California Taxpayers' association stated today, making public its study of the ups and downs in the four kinds of public aid to the needy in California. The total number of persons receiving aid in the county fell off by five percent when the two months are compared.

Total payment for aid to the needy in the county during May, 1944, was $380,474, compared with $329,585 for May, 1943. Numbers of needy persons receiving the four kinds of relief in the county were 8,633 during May, 1944, and 9,133 during May, 1943, the association found.

Biggest share of the increase in the amount of aid given to the needy in the county occurred in aid to the needy aged, with a 22 percent increase in total amount of aid paid out and a decrease of two percent in the number of people receiving such relief.

Aid to the needy blind went down 15 percent, with the number of people receiving such aid going down 15 percent. Aid for needy children went down 17 percent, with the number of children receiving such aid going down 16 percent. Aid to county indigents went down 21 percent, with the number of people receiving such relief decreasing 25 percent.

Over the state as a whole, relief payments for May, 1944, totaled $8,699,567, up 24 percent over the $7,027,134 granted in relief for May, 1943. During May, 1944, 203,263 people received relief, compared with 206,832 for May, 1943, a decrease of two percent.

HEART ATTACKS FATAL TO ONE OF TWO WOMEN DURING PAST WEEK
Aid of the Ocean Beach police was called in the case of two women suffering heart attacks during the past week, reports Sergeant R. J. Karrow.

Officers W. R. Nelson and J. L. Berry were called to the Calahan home at 3020 Dumas st. about 2 a. m. Sunday morning. They found Mrs. Frances E. Calahan, 40, dying from a heart attack. A few minutes later a doctor arrived, but the woman succumbed to the attack at 2 o'clock.

Aid of the police also was called in the case of Mrs. Catherine Sodowsky, 63, of 5045 Voltaire st., who suffered an attack a few blocks from her home. They aided her to her home and report the attack was not severe.

DIG DOWN AND PUT OVER THAT

To the People of this Community

There will be a feeling of shame in this community if we find ourselves short of the mark when the Fifth War Loan comes to an end July 9.

We will not permit that to happen here, especially if we look around in our homes and our places of employment and see the shadows of relatives and friends who today are in the midst of bloody battle for us.

We cannot emphasize too strongly that regardless of the size of the oversubscription of our community quota, the Fifth War Loan will be a flat failure for you if you do not exceed anything you have done in the past in War Bond buying.

In this invasion hour our fighting men have a right to demand that you make your record contribution to the success of a war loan. The slogan, Back the Attack—Buy More Than Before, is not merely a catch phrase. It expresses the cold facts about invasion. Unless we make the supreme effort to do everything humanly possible either at our work benches or in our homes with our sweat, our blood and our dollars we hand over our share of the burden to our fighting men.

THE EDITOR.

Marine Warrant Officer Cleaves B. Branson, whose wife, Mary, lives at 4525 Long Branch ave., is shown having a little fun with Kay Kyser at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Oakland, Calif., where Kyser recently dedicated a new swimming pool. The rugged "Leatherneck" officer apparently objected to being dubbed "Smilin' Sam" by Kyser. Funds raised by a previous Kyser show resulted in a $26,000 pool being constructed.

Spies! No Holds Barred in Espionage

Lieutenant Crovitch agreed to desert.

A SPY'S job is to get information, or accomplish whatever mission has been entrusted to him. There are no tactics which he will not use. It is not without reason that espionage has been called "the science of foul play."

Attractive men and women use that quality as a tool, and a dangerous weapon it is sometimes. If you are in possession of any sort of war information, remember this. Sentiment, blackmail, murder; all are fair in espionage.

During the last war, clever, blonde, seductive Maria Sorrel was in Warsaw. Further, the Russian code was in her hands, and it was vital necessary for her to get it into the hands of her masters in Berlin, immediately. Her usual channels of communication were too slow for this emergency. Even the young officers whom she had made her slaves were useless—but wait!

He was a dreamer, that one. Declared he would do anything in the world for her.

The story she had ready for the enamored young officer was a masterpiece of sentimental fiction. Maria's young brother had been arrested in Austria, and was to be shot, as a spy. And all because she, his sister, was in Russia. Only her brave, adored, beloved Lieutenant Crovitch could save him.

Her puzzled dupe eagerly inquired how Maria had the answers ready. If only a letter could reach an old admirer of hers in Germany, now a powerful general, all would be well. But the letter must reach him at once.

Astonishingly, Lieutenant Crovitch agreed to desert, and carry Maria's "letter," actually the Russian code. Ent before he started on Maria's mission, Crovitch left his brother a full written confession, and entrusted it to the Hotel Bristol porter for delivery.

Suspicious of the young officer's marked agitation, the porter steamed open the letter, read it, and notified police. Crovitch's train was stopped just outside Warsaw, and he was arrested by the military authorities.

However, he persuaded a friendly officer to telegraph Maria, telling her of his unavoidable detention.

Either encouraged by his earlier coup, or because it was his habit, the same porter at the Bristol steamed open the telegram, and notified the Ochran agents that the woman in Crovitch's case had been found. Then the message was delivered to Maria.

Red tape delayed arrival of the police. For Maria, the short warning was enough. She disappeared.

It was years later that vanity led to Maria Sorrel's downfall. She was caught, and hanged by the Russians because she was too vain to cut off her hair while impersonating a Russian sergeant.

No holds are barred in espionage

MR. WINKLE GOES TO WAR

By THEODORE PRATT
W.N.U. RELEASE

CHAPTER I

It never in the world ever occurred to Mr. Winkle that he would be drafted and sent off to the wars. War was for young men, not for a settled married man of forty-four.

There was talk of the Army not wanting the older men, but nothing had yet been done about this. The thing being done was what Mr. Winkle received in this morning's mail. When he reached in the mailbox and took out the communication from his draft board, his hands trembled a little. Peering through his metal-rimmed glasses, he read that he was classified 1-A.

He knew what that meant. After ten days' time, he was subject for induction into the United States Army.

He stood there on the front steps of his house, a small man engulfed by a tremendous event that toppled over his world and sent it bowling off into space like a cannon ball. He thought:

Not he, who had been married for twenty years. Not he, a former careful accountant who was now the conservative proprietor of a modest general repair shop located in the alley back of his house. Not he, with his overly active and morbid imagination. Not he, who was no man of action, but was afraid of death of guns or violence of any sort.

Not he, with his stored-up memory of how, as a boy with his .22 rifle, he had shot a squirrel. The tiny animal fell from the high branch where he aimed at it, landing with a thud on the hard ground. When he held the warm, fuzzy body in his hand, he was sick at heart at what he had done. In later life, when he stepped on an ant, or squashed a spider, or even swatted a fly, Mr. Winkle felt squeamish at taking life.

Upon being called by his draft board last week for physical examination, Mr. Winkle had thought that the strange doctor appreciated his dyspepsia, his nearsightedness, his caved-in chest, his good beginning on a paunch (even though otherwise he was skinny enough to be underweight), his jumped-up pulse at the slightest exertion, and his general make-up of no great muscularity.

Never before had Mr. Winkle known himself to be such a physical wreck.

The doctor pursed his lips at the visual evidences of this close approach to the grave. He frowned in such a manner as to give Mr. Winkle reason for counting on his not being recommended. And though the doctor and the members of the draft board, working their mysterious ways, had not committed themselves on the result, it still hadn't seemed real to Mr. Winkle that he would be seriously considered as a soldier.

The notice couldn't mean him. He looked at it again, to see if, possibly, there had been some mistake. But he saw his name typed out boldly: Wilbert George Winkle.

The thought of going in and telling Mrs. Winkle about it swept over him. The prospect of this was one of both panic and intense interest. Certainly it would take a lot of the strong wind out of her sails.

Mrs. Winkle during recent years, had developed into a positive individual who was prone to run her husband the way a locomotive engineer kept his hand on the throttle. Mr. Winkle never liked to put this into the actual term of hen-pecking, but nevertheless that was the true state of affairs.

Now he wondered how Amy would take it. There was little she could do about it. She wouldn't be able to argue with this, nor impose her will in any way upon it. He felt a little sorry for her, for he knew that deep down, in spite of her sharp words and orders, she loved him and he loved her. Beyond his speculation on how she would receive the news, he had a reluctance about telling her.

Yet he didn't see what else he could do. With a sigh, he went into the house.

Mrs. Winkle was already behind her half of the newspaper in the breakfast nook, which was all the dining room their small house possessed. Mr. Winkle, in his mind, could look right through the paper and see her, a well-filled-out lady of exactly his own age. To a person seeing her for the first time, she appeared dainty in spite of her plumpness, quite feminine, and of an eminently good nature. It was a shock, upon second glance, to notice the way her lips pressed themselves together and the perpetual frown that creased the otherwise smooth pink skin between her blue eyes.

Amy paid no attention as Mr. Winkle carefully stepped over Penelope, the third member of the family.

Their sad-eyed spaniel was settled on the floor with her black muzzle resting on her paws. At eight, Penelope in her dog world was approximately Mr. Winkle's comparative age in the human world. She was as amiable and mild as Mr. Winkle himself. Never having been allowed a husband, she had a rather droopy disposition. Now, in her middle age, she had given up hope and no longer pretended to any interest at the sight of a male, but simply sniffed loftily or ignored the meeting altogether.

Penelope, Mr. Winkle thought, was no more prepared for the large, adventurous and dangerous things of life, such as war, than he.

He sat heavily in his place in the breakfast nook. From behind her paper, Mrs. Winkle demanded, "Anything for me?"

"No-o," answered Mr. Winkle.

At his drawing out of the word, Mrs. Winkle put her paper aside and looked at her husband. She didn't see what he had received, for he held it below the table. But from the look of Mr. Winkle and the tone of his voice, she knew at once.

Mrs. Winkle was the first to speak again. Her frown deepened and her lips were tight when she stated disapprovingly, "Wilbert, your notice has come."

Silently, Mr. Winkle handed over the notice to her.

Mrs. Winkle took it in at a single glance. Her face went white. Her frown disappeared and her mouth softened. She looked bewildered, as if props had been knocked out from under her and she had no solid ground to stand on. She said breathlessly, as if caught off guard, "You're going to war."

Mr. Winkle cleared his throat so as to be sure he could control his own voice, trying it out this way without first chancing how it might sound. "It means," he explained, "I'm just being passed on to the Army doctors."

"You're going to war," Mrs. Winkle repeated in a whisper. Now she looked actually frightened, amazed, and hurt.

It had been years since Mr. Winkle had seen such expressions on his wife's face. They affected him deeply. He began, "Now, Amy—"

"You'll be killed!" Mrs. Winkle wailed.

At this excitement, and perhaps at the new, strange tone in Mrs. Winkle's voice, Penelope began to howl.

Mr. Winkle had counted on no such behavior on the part of his wife. He had become so accustomed to her shrewish ways that he hadn't pictured them being punctured so abruptly.

He realized what a blow it was to her. She was threatened with not having him around to order about.

To have him removed from her and sent off to war destroyed her defenses and left her bewildered and alone. It revealed the basic affection she had for him. Mr. Winkle reflected that it was taking the greatest war in history to accomplish this.

From the look on her face, Mr. Winkle almost expected Amy to begin weeping. But she didn't. She just sat there staring at him, her eyes bright and wide and dry, and he sat staring at her. They regarded each other awesomely while Penelope continued to howl.

Penelope was interrupted by the shrill ringing of the telephone. Mr. Winkle made a movement to go into the living room to answer it, but Mrs. Winkle, with a rather wild look on her face, started before he did. She appeared to want to do something definite.

Sitting in the breakfast nook, Mr. Winkle heard her voice.

"Why, yes . . . I suppose so," she faltered. "Just a minute."

Any hesitancy didn't sound like Amy at all. Rather, it sounded like the Amy of years ago, when Mr. Winkle married her.

Her voice came again, calling in to him, "It's the newspaper—they want to come out and interview you."

Alarmed at this, and at Amy asking his advice about something instead of deciding it herself, Mr. Winkle asked, "Me? Now? Here?"

Mrs. Winkle gave an affirmative answer to each of these questions, her words sounding like strangled chirps.

Mr. Winkle thought, desperately. Suddenly, he wanted to lash out at something. "Certainly not," he said. "I can't wait around here. I've got to get to the shop. And I don't—tell them I don't want to be interviewed."

Mrs. Winkle passed on his views over the telephone. They didn't seem to make much impression, for Mrs. Winkle, after listening to what was said in reply, kept agreeing doubtfully, "Yes . . . yes, but—oh, I can see that's probably right."

She hung up and came back. She appeared to be slightly dazed.

"They said," she told Mr. Winkle, "that you're already something of a celebrity—from being the first married man in the older men's classification to be drafted—and that it's your patriotic duty to set a good example. They're coming out here to take pictures of—of us both."

"I won't do it," he said. "And you shouldn't."

"But, Wilbert," Mrs. Winkle protested, "it won't look right if we don't."

"I don't care how it looks. Where's my hat?" He was emboldened to be peremptory. "Where's my lunch box?"

He saw them both where they were kept ready for his departure to business. He snatched them up almost savagely, and clamped the hat on his head. He hadn't felt so aroused for many years. He didn't quite know what to make of the way

It wasn't until he had gone some way that it occurred to him he had forgotten to kiss his wife goodbye.

he felt, for there was fear mixed in him, too, along with his unaccustomed anger. Mainly, there was the sense of being unnerved by an unsure Amy.

He turned, and marched to the front door. Mrs. Winkle followed him. "Wilbert," she said weakly, "you have to, and you know it."

By the time he reached the steps outside, Mr. Winkle had somewhat calmed. His small storm was nearly over. He blinked. "I suppose," he admitted, "I'll have to do a lot of things I don't feel like doing."

Abruptly, he strode away, down the walk, and then along the street. It wasn't until he had gone some way that it occurred to him he had forgotten to kiss his wife goodbye. It was the first time he had neglected this ritual in their whole married life. Ordinarily, he would have been called back and given instructions. But there was no sound from Amy.

Guiltily, he glanced once behind, to see her still standing on the steps, her hand at her throat, watching him depart. Penelope was at her feet, staring after him mournfully.

It may seem curious that, though Mr. Winkle's place of business was located right in back of his house, he didn't go out through the rear door and across the fifty feet of yard to reach his shop.

To the Winkles this wasn't strange at all. There was quite a good reason for it.

It originated from Mr. Winkle's career as a public accountant having disappeared during the depression. Secretly, he was just as glad, for he had never cared much for dealing in long rows of someone else's figures. He greatly preferred tinkering with mechanical things, for which he had a decided flair and a delicate touch.

Keep Cool With Frosty Ice Box Pudding

(See Recipes Below)

Summer Favorites

If appetites are dawdling, a real job confronts the cook: Summer or winter, the body needs nourishment, and the basic seven foods must be included in the diet.

What, then, must be done? Well, for one thing, the appetite must be coaxed with new and different combinations of food. Even in summer there should be one hot food in the meal, but the cold ones should be very cool and tempting.

Attractive serving can help consumption, too. If there are cool, crisp looking tablecloths, napkins and dishes, the appetite will naturally perk up. Add to this, green, crisp garnishes, pleasing color combinations and well prepared foods, and there need be no difficulty in having the food eaten even on the warmest day.

Save Used Fats!

Today's round-up of recipes will help in planning palate-pleasing menus for hot summer days:

*Veal-Cheese Sandwich. (Makes 6 sandwiches)
½ pound prepared veal loaf
½ cup cottage cheese
6 stuffed olives
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
Butter
12 slices bread

Chill veal loaf and slice thinly. Mix cottage cheese, chopped stuffed olives, onion and mayonnaise. Place veal slices on buttered bread. Top with bread spread with cottage cheese mixture. A leaf of lettuce may be placed in between. Serve with pickles and potato chips for lunch.

Jellied Chicken and Vegetables.

(Serves 6)

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water or stock
1½ cups hot chicken stock
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup chicken, chopped
1 cup cooked vegetables (peas, string beans, beets, asparagus, carrots)
½ pimiento or green pepper

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add to hot stock and stir until dissolved.

Rinse a square mold in cold water, pour a thin layer of liquid jelly. Let stiffen slightly and decorate with pepper and other vegetables. Arrange the thickening jelly, chicken and vegetables in layers and chill. Unmold on lettuce.

chicken and vegetables in layers and chill. Unmold on lettuce.

Lynn Says

The Score Card: Potatoes and onions are coming into the markets. They are very much usable in summertime menus.

Plan to use plenty of peaches, apricots and melons this year. Crop supplies look plentiful. Ice cream consumption has increased from eight pounds per person in 1924 to sixteen pounds in 1942.

Homemakers are urged to can as many fruits and vegetables this season to give themselves point-insurance for the winter.

Last year, more lard was produced than at any time during the nation's history.

Egg supplies are still plentiful. Use at least one a day to fortify your diet.

Sugar stamps 30 and 31 (book 4) are each good for 5 pounds of sugar. Sugar stamp, number 40, will give you 5 pounds of sugar for canning. An extra 20 pounds of canning sugar is available with stamp 37, upon application to your local board. This will give you 10 pounds now and 10 pounds later.

Barbecued Frankfurters.

(Serves 6)

1 medium-sized onion, sliced
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Salt and pepper
½ cup catsup
½ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Drop of tabasco sauce
12 frankfurters

Lightly brown onion in salad oil. Add combined remaining ingredients, except frankfurters. Simmer 15 minutes. Split frankfurters and place in shallow baking dish. Pour over barbecue sauce and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 minutes, basting several times.

From main dishes and salads we go to desserts. These are designed to be perfect foil, light endings to meals. You'll find them flavor-perfect and easy to make:

Red Currant and Raspberry Ice Cream. (Makes 2½ cups)
2 pounds red currants, stemmed
1 pint red raspberries
1 cup granulated sugar
1 pint cream or evaporated milk, whipped
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Stem currants, wash and drain. Wash, pick over, hull raspberries. Combine both fruits, crushing coarsely. Sprinkle sugar on fruit, then let stand 1 hour. Then turn, mix in enamel saucepan, cover and cook over low flame 10 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent scorching. Remove, squeeze through double cheesecloth. To this add the following syrup:

½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup cold water

Stir sugar and water, bring to boiling point and boil 5 minutes.

Remove, stir into first mixture, then strain again through cheesecloth. Chill, fold in whipped cream, salt and vanilla and freeze in hand freezer. Use three parts ice to one part rock salt. Freeze until solid, then pack in four parts ice and one part rock salt and let mellow for two hours.

*Fig Ice Box Pudding.

(Serves 10)

2 cups dried white figs
1½ cups water
1 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Few grains salt
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ cups cream or evaporated milk, whipped
Lady fingers
Cornstarch custard

Cover figs with boiling water, let stand about 10 minutes. Drain, clip stems and grind or chop figs fine. Add 1½ cups cold water, bring to a boil and cook about 5 minutes or until water is evaporated. Remove from heat, add gelatin moistened in ¼ cup cold water. Stir to dissolve. Cool, add lemon juice and blend. Whip cream and beat into fig mixture. Line sides of a 1½ quart ring mold with lady fingers. Pour fig-cream mixture into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold onto serving plate and fill center with cornstarch custard or serve plain.

ON THE HOME FRONT

With RUTH WYETH SPEARS

ON THE center table in most Victorian parlors there was a kaleidoscope. Guests gazed into this after they tired of looking at the family album. Bits of colored glass were reflected in an endless number of intricate patterns in this ingenious device. Very much the same effect was obtained by the method of putting together the simple six-inch quilt block shown here and that is why the pattern was called the kaleidoscope.

This quilt has just the right flavor for today's decorating trends. It will make a stunning spread for your bed either in the colors suggested here or in any other combination that suits your room. The blocks are so easy to piece and are such a convenient size to carry around that they make ideal summer pick-up work.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears has prepared a large sheet with actual size quilt piece patterns for three of her favorite quilts. The Kaleidoscope, the Ann Rutledge and the Whirl Wind are included. This is pattern No. 200 and the price is 15 cents. Address:

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Latest government figures show that 60 per cent of the nation's war workers travel to and from their war jobs by automobile. Still an important reason why available tires have to be distributed cautiously.

B. F. Goodrich has created and is now beginning to produce an improved general-purpose synthetic rubber, the details of which must remain confidential until after the war. Introduction of a certain abundant natural material has developed a synthetic rubber that approaches natural rubber in characteristics during processing and has proven superior in large truck tires.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
